The attention of C. R. Savage was called today to the reported fact in the New York Herald that the mysteries surrounding the long dreamed of color photography had been unraveled, by a son of Prof. Verrill of Yale, who claimed that by a special collodion preparation, and sensitization of paper was able to photograph in natura colors. Mr. Savage rather regards this as an oriental dream, and very much doubts if anything of this kind ever will be accomplished.

PESERETEVENING NEWS IN THE CITY CHURCHES YESTERDAY SERVICES AT

norning in the First Presbyterian hurch on individual work in the church. If a man has no money, that is no reason why he can not do something, for he can give his personal service what he may lack in a financial way. The speaker called attention to the fact that it may be a man's duty to give certain hours or parts of days or evenings in the week to spiritual service; as for instance it is the duty o attend the mid-week prayer meeting and it is the duty of man to abstain from work on the Sabbath day. The fact that a new church edifice was about to be erected was referred to, and the necessity of all in the church taking an active part in some way. The music, as usual, was very good. Mrs. Andrews, the choirmaster, has prought her choir up to a high state of proficiency, and in her efforts she is ably seconded by the pastor and the congregation. And it has been renarked of Miss Maude Thorne, the organist, that during the years she has officiated in the First church, no one emembers ever hearing her play a alse note. The addition of a violin to he choir has proven a marked attrac-

CALLS THEM MONGRELS. Rev. Dr. Albritton preached a discourse last evening, in the First Meth-odist church, in which he backed up Mayor Thompson in his fight on the chief of police. The doctor preached on the need of leaders in the church and state, and in the course of his remarks, said:

"There never was a time when leaders were needed more than now-men who wish to do right; men who have the interests of the people at heart. We all know the need of it, for what turmoil this city has been in during e past few weeks because there ar in the city council men that have their preconcepted opinions, and when the mayor wishes to go ahead and do right, they hold down his hands. Disgraceful scenes for any city are en-acted in our council chamber from week to week by those petty mongreis sole purpose is to stand in the way of the mayor."

The preacher followed up this attack by getting after people in his own church who he claimed had been stirr-ing up discord. He said, "I am not afraid that the First M. E, church is going down because there are those that are endeavoring to stir up strife continually-who think that the church might as well go to the devil now. I have no fears but that the people are going to come here from morning to morning and from night to night; they are going to come here and hear the pure word of God preached. This is in the mouths of the people all over the city, and why should not I speak plainly? It is no longer time for us to keep quiet. It is time for us to take our stand and to take it boldly against wrong, and for the right and truth."
The cause for this caustic statement

The cause for this caustic statement is the dissatisfastion some members of the First Methodist church have been trying to stir up since Dr. Albritton became pastor; and it is claimed that these few are disgruntled because the doctor has a will and a way of his

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Bishop Leonard took strong grounds yesterday morning, in his sermon at St. Paul's church on the proper observance of the Sabbath, and introduced his discourse by saying: "Sunday is coming course and more to be observed with a freedom which savors license." The speaker further said with emphasis: "There is as much consti-tutional right to provide that Sunday shall be marked as differing from other shall be marked as differing from other days by a cessation from business as to provide by law, as is the case in many States, that intoxicating drinks shall not be sold upon Sunday, or that intoxicating drinks shall not be sold at "The strong moral will of the people demands the law in both cases. If Mis either be unconstitutional, why not test son the matter before the highest judicial ard authority in this land? This Sunday son.

Rev. Dr. Paden preached yesterday | question is a moral and social one, as well as a religious one, and hence is a proper subject for legislation. "It is a fact which no man will question that Sunday is coming more and more to be observed with a freedom ing, of course, to the fact of the present unusually quick means of communica-tion with foreign lands and the rapid infusion into the minds of our people of new and false ideas of liberty. It comes too, no doubt, largely from the fact that the pendulum of popular thought has swung from the extreme Puritan-cal views which prevailed so largely in the early history of our country, to the extreme laxity which is so widespread

In his conclusion the bishop said: "It will be a sad day for the United States when a foreign license untrammeled by any statute prevails here. This ree America, of course, but then the who have the best claim upon this soil have some rights which foreigners ought to respect. This is no place for the introduction of foreign customs. and herein lies a great danger to our republic. The great heart of this nation is true to the cause of Christ."

MR. BAILEY'S SUCCESSOR.

Westminster Presbyterian church will not be long without a pastor, for Rev J. Richelson of the Presbyterian church it Soda Springs, has accepted the call o Westminster, and the Utah Presbytewill make the transfer later. Richelson begins his labors next Sunlay, although his official connection with the church does not really begin ntil the action of the Presbytery. Mr. ailey's resignation took effect the first March, and his successor will be in ne pulpit by the 16th. But as Mr tichelson was in town to preach sunday after Mr. Balley appeared he last time, there has been practically no intermission, and the members of the congregation feel that they are very fortunate.

CONGREGATIONAL. Rev. P. A. Simpkin of Phillip's Con gregational church preached last night on "The Old, Old Story." He called attention in the course of his remarks to the remarkable manner in archaeological research was verifying scripture and the old, old story. A very smart gentleman had once ridi-culed to him the idea of there ever having been any such peoples as the Hi-vites, the Perrizites, the Jebusites, et But it was not so very long ago hat a monument was unearthed Palestine with insriptions showing that it was erected ages ago by a Hivite monarch in commemoration of his onquest of that country. Again, the scriptures give a clear and succinc narrative of the trials of the Israelites in trying to gather their own straw in the making of brick, and not being successful in finding straw, they made brick without it. Recent excavations from beneath the sands of Egypt have brought to light a great wall bunt by the Israelite slaves in which the top part is brick without straw, in the niddel are brick with very little straw and at the bottom are brick, well made with the full amount of straw. Mr. Simpkin brought out that science is substantiating all that is given in the sacred narratives in a way that astonishes skeptics and is overthrowing the lies and insinuations of the evil one. A feature of the evening was singleg by a male quartet, which was very good.

TRUE AND HONORABLE MAN

Apostle John Henry Smith Pays Elequent Tribute-Formerly Lived In Provo City.

Provo, Utah Co., March 9 .- A tele gram from Mesa, Ariz., received by Jesse Knight Saturday afternoon announced the death of Henry C. Rogers at Mesa, Saturday forenoon at 10:20 o'clock. Elder Rogers was the son of Dr. David Rogers and Martha Collins Rogers, and was born in New York state, Oct. 18, 1833. His father became a member of the Church in an early day and was with the body of the Saints in Kirtland, Mo., and Nauvoo. The family came to Utah in 1850, and settled in Provo. arduous labors of the pioneers. Here he married Emma Highee, a daughter of Isaac Highee, who, with a large family survives him. Elder Rogers held nor and trust in this city, serving as honor and trust in this city, serving activy marshal, and he was counselor to Bishop Follets, of the Fourth ward, when he was called to go to Arizona 27 years ago. He was one of the first who was called to make settlements in Arizona and he has remained there since sona, and he has remained there since that time, and has been one of the leaders in colonizing the Saints in our eighboring territory. At the time of ent C. R. Haker of the Maricopa

Elder Rogers was an unassuming nonest, kindly, sturdy man, without rulle or dissemblance. He has labored for many years among the Indians of Arizona, and won their unquestionin confidence and loving trust, which the race, like children, give intuitively to good men. A host of relatives and friends in Utah and Arizona will keep green in loving hearts throughout life the memory of Elder Henry C. Rogers and tell their children the story of his single-hearted purpose—the furtherance of the work of God—and how he humbly gave the unremitting efforts of his life to that alone. His friends and uc-quaintances in this city all remember him with love and esteem, and all who

The same sad word of the death of Prest. Rogers was received at the Pres-ident's office on Saturday evening, and were heard praises of the most flatter-ing nature. Apostle John Henry Smith stated today: "Just say for John Henry Smith, that a better man, one truer to s convictions, never lived than Henry Rogers. He was a diamond in the rough, a man of pure gold, who won the affections of all men who knew him and the Indians all loved him, for the reason that he would get out of his bed at any hour of the night to render them assistance. I was associated with im in Provo, and I know that a more loyal heart than his never beat."

Elder William G. Sears, late president of the Samoan mission, was the first speaker. He explained that he had recently returned from Samoa, and had done very little preaching in the English tongue. He went to Samoa in the islands. Word came from the missionaries there that it would not be prudent for any more Elders to come here at present. Notwithstanding this advice, President Snow decided hould go; he went, and soon after he arrived the war ended and the missioniries were permitted to resume labors. The war had scattered the naive Saints over the islands and it was difficult to get them back to their respective tribes. Because of false reports the speaker and his companions were summoned before the German governor to answer to certain charges He was a broad-minded man, and when the Elders explained their work to him he became friendly and reporting to his government he made such favorable for that course. But the governor still remains a friend to the Elders and has granted them many concessions.
